

MANY CITIES IN REBELS' POWER

MEXICAN REVOLUTION IS VERY FAR REACHING IN EFFECT.

CAPTURED MANY STORES

Chihuahua Said to Be Goal of Today's Advances by the Insurgents.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
El Paso, Tex., Nov. 22.—The Mexican revolutionists have captured
three of the chief towns in the Nazas River valley, Omeza, Palencia, Lerio, and Torreon.

The death toll is reported heavy at Torreon, where 1,000 revolutionists,
armed with modern long range guns,
swept the city with a terrific fire several hours. No Americans are reported killed.

Information from sources considered reliable, is to the effect that after 300
federal troops at Gomez Palencia surrendered to the revolutionists yesterday, the force of 1,000 marched on to Torreon.

There, the artillery was stationed on a hill overlooking the city and the big guns opened fire. The garrison surrendered. And the revolutionists dashed into the city, taking charge of all stores and public funds and naming
new municipal officers.

Federal troops started from Monterrey last night and fierce fighting is expected when they reach Torreon.

Latest Rumor.

El Paso, Tex., Nov. 22.—William Dale, a miner from Chihuahua, declares 300 troops enroute to Chihuahua to fight Madra, were blown up on a bridge and killed. It is impossible to verify this report.

A. G. Sprenger, a salesman who came this morning from Gomez Pala-encia, says he saw fighting there Sunday and that the dead were lying all about the streets.

Latest Report.

New Orleans, La., Nov. 22.—An unconfirmed report of the capture of Parral, Mexico, by the revolutionists
this morning was received here.

Go to Torreon.

Gundalajara, Mex., Nov. 22.—Large bodies of Mexican troops, all armed,
left here during the night, presumably for Torreon.

Freed Prisoners.

Orizaba, Mex., Nov. 22.—Three bodies of revolutionists stormed the barracks and prison here last night. They freed the prisoners but were driven back after a lively engagement with the troops.

Many Places Captured.

El Paso, Texas, Nov. 22.—According to advices this morning, San Antonio,
San Andres, Torreon, Minaca,
San Juan, Guerrero, and the surrounding country in Chihuahua was taken by revolutionists last night, they looted all the stores, military equipment, cattle, and horses. At Parral the revolutionists were defeated
with a loss of fifteen men.

Mexican Refugees.

Laredo, Texas, Nov. 22.—Scores of Mexican refugees are pouring into Laredo from border points. The refugees report skirmishes between the rebels and the regular troops.

Attack Chihuahua.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 22.—Cipher dispatches received by sympathizers
of Madra, the anti Diaz rebel leader,
indicate the revolutionists will attack Chihuahua today. The fall of Puebla is also indicated.

Withhold Facts.

Mexico City, Mexico, Nov. 22.—Results of revolutionary fighting during the night at Durango is withheld by government censorship today. The dead list is thought large. Whether the rebels or federal troops were victorious is not known.

Real Revolution.

El Paso, Nov. 22.—Real revolution
today prevails in the state of Chihuahua.
Fierce fighting between loyal troops and insurgents is reported in many places. All telegraph wires in Mexico have today been commandeered
by the government. United States troops today line the border in an attempt to stop the smuggling of arms
by the revolutionists.

Wild reports of fighting and disloyalty of federal troops in many sections continue to prevail here today.

MADE CONFESSION AS TO MURDER OF HIS WIFE FOR PAY

American Convicted of Murder Writes
Story of Crime for London Times for Large Sum.

[BY UNITED PRESS.]
London, Eng., Nov. 22.—Dr. Crippen has confessed, according to the London Times. The newspaper says the confession is a thrilling human document, replete with cold, callous details. It is positively stated that Crippen has related the whole story of the murder.

Crippen, it is reported, sold the confession to the Times for a large sum of money to be distributed equally to Miss Lennox and his aged father in California. Crippen knew not of his father's death.

The confession embodies the facts,
it is stated, that he poisoned his wife
and buried her body in order to marry
Miss Lennox. He insisted that Miss Lennox knew nothing of the crime
when she flew with him to Canada.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

London, Nov. 22.—Justin McCarthy, the famous statesman, historian, and novelist, received a flood of congratulations from friends throughout the world today on the occasion of his eightieth birthday anniversary. Mr.
McCarthy, who has long been regarded as one of the foremost living men of letters, was born in Cork in 1830
and at an early age began his career as a reporter in the gallery of the House of Commons. He is regarded as the greatest novelist Ireland has produced since Charles Lever, but the work by which he will probably be longest remembered is his "History of Our Own Times." Mr. McCarthy is in good health and continues actively at work.

SEEKING UNIFORM INSURANCE LAWS

Joint Committee Representing Various Fraternal Societies is in Conference at Chicago.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Chicago, Nov. 22.—Uniform legislation in the various states for the control and regulation of fraternal insurance companies will become an accomplished fact before long, if the plans discussed here today by a joint committee of the Associated Fraternal Societies of America and the National Fraternal congress are carried out. The two organizations, which control between them virtually all of the fraternal companies of the country, have long been at loggerheads on the question of uniform legislation. Through the efforts of the National association of Insurance Commissioners they have been induced to work together to secure the adoption of the uniform bill for the regulation of the fraternal companies, and they will co-operate in efforts to have the state legislatures enact the desired legislation at their sessions this winter.

'EAT FILL' SAYS FOOD EXPERT WILEY

Believes Public is Entitled To One Day For Satisfying Appetite Without Thought Of Microbes.

[BY UNITED PRESS.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 22.—"This message I would send the hungry
American people; eat their fill on Thanksgiving day, and forget Wiley
and the microbes, but—do not eat cold storage turkey."

Dr. Harvey Wiley, the government's pure food expert ran up the flag of truce in the germ war, for Thanksgiving day.

"I cannot advocate a safe and sano
Nov. 24," he said. "I believe that the eating public is entitled to one day in the year upon which the inner man shall be satisfied without thought of microbes. I would that you tell the population that the lid is off and that I bid every one enjoy himself—cold storage turkeys, of course excepted."

"It is not for me to say where the fresh turkeys roost, rather than out a refrigerated fowl, the hungry man might almost be excused for omitting the ways of some of our rural dusky brethren."

"The year of 1910 and its high cost of living is drawing to a close. The records of population and harvests show that despite the flagrant use of honzouts of soda, sulphurous acid and copper sulphate as preservatives and notwithstanding the continued sale of dodgy soothing syrups for helpless children, our national growth has been of wonderful proportions."

"With the exception of the drawn bottle between my breast and these manufacturers who persist in marketing substances deleterious to the public health, we are at peace with the world."

Prices Up.

New York, Nov. 22.—Because of the heavy demand, the price of turkeys
in New York city advanced yesterday from twenty-five to thirty cents per pound in the retail markets. Priciple of stores indicate the price will be 32c by Wednesday. The reason for the increase is said to be the

TAX FERRETING SCHEME SCORED

BY M. G. JEFFRIS AT SPECIAL COUNCIL MEETING.

ACTION AGAIN DELAYED

City Fathers Listened To Mr. Workman, the City Attorney, and the Opposition But Took No Action.

Workman & Higgs' tax-ferreting proposition was a special order of business before the common council last evening. The aldermen listened to communications from City Attorney H. L. Maxfield and the tax experts replying to arguments advanced by Mayor Carlo in connection with his refusal to sign the contract; talked the matter over with J. B. Workman in a lengthy star-chamber session; heard the plan condemned by M. G. Jeffris in a forceful and emphatic address; and adjourned without taking any further action. Alderman Evans was in favor of disposing of the matter without further delay. So were Aldermen Brown, Hall, and Lowell. But their six colleagues carried Alderman Sheridan's motion to postpone consideration.

"Advice To Council," Attorney Maxfield in his communication summarized the answers received to inquiries which he had sent to various state officers and business men in Indiana, Iowa, and other states. Some had been hostile towards the system and others warmly in favor of it but not one had attempted either to justify tax-dodging or to show that the tax-ferreting plan in operation had worked any injury to the business interests of a given community or driven the moneyed men away. The City Attorney went on to say that it was the duty of the council to use every honorable means to collect the taxes, even without reference to effect on the commercial life of the city. As a matter of fact, he declared, the only possible effect of this plan on the business interests would be to reduce taxes. Tax dodgers were unpatriotic and undesirable citizens. The assessors did not have access to any records showing the location of foreign securities and could not be expected to perform this particular service.

I regard this communication simply as advice to the council and if there is no objection I will refer it to no committee but merely have it received and placed on file," said Mayor Carlo. It was so received.

Tax-Experts Reply. Workman & Higgs in a lengthy communication took up the objections made by the Mayor in his veto message one by one. In reply to the argument that the co-operation of county and state ought to be secured in any such movement, it was urged that the county and state paid nothing what-soever for the collection of city's share of the taxes, but simply apportioned values and named the amount they wanted from each given community. In 1907, for instance, the state assigned $2,842,973 in intangible property to Rock County but Rock County as a matter of fact, listed only $424,040 on its assessment rolls. In succeeding years the situation had been about the same.

In reply to the objection that the terms of the contract are not explicit and fail to limit the number of years, it was urged that it simply provided for three succeeding years and the three years immediately preceding any one of these during which time back taxes could be collected under the law. It had never been claimed that the city could assess and collect taxes anywhere except in Janesville but it had been asserted that with the assistance of legal evidence that could be and had been found of record outside the ordinary jurisdiction of assessors unpaid taxes on certain foreign investments could be brought to the treasury.

Nowhere in the contract was it proposed that Workman & Higgs should perform any act or function required of regularly appointed city officers.

Nor was there any possible interpretation of the terms of the contract which would permit the tax experts to receive a commission more than once for placing any given sequestered personal property on the assessment rolls.

If the plan was against public policy then it must be public policy to have the tax dodger continue to escape paying his just dues. The lawyer who had written the "public policy" clause in the mayor's veto had been too wise to go into details and show how and wherein the collection of taxes on omitted personal property was pernicious and against the welfare of the community.

No city attorney in Wisconsin had ever rendered an opinion that such a contract as the one drawn up between Workman & Higgs and the city of Janesville was invalid.

Mayor Carlo referred the communication to the council as a whole.

M. G. Jeffris Heard. After Alderman Sheridan had moved that all communication be laid over one week, Attorney M. G. Jeffris who had asked, prior to the recess for an opportunity to be heard, stated that he would not be in Janesville next Monday and that if there was no objection he would speak at this time.

There was no objection. Mr. Jeffris took from his pocket one of the printed hand-bills, which were scattered broadcast throughout the city yesterday, containing a list of hundreds of thousands of dollar Janesville tax dodgers designated by letters which were popularly supposed to be the initials of their names, together with figures supposed to represent foreign investments of which Workman & Higgs had evidence. One of the largest of these items followed the letter "C" and the document contained what was apparently meant to be a very pointed allusion to Mayor Carlo's "tax-dodging friends."

Workman Would Not Answer. "I would like to ask Mr. Workman just one question," said Mr. Jeffris. "Does 'C' in this hand-bill, followed by the figures, refer to the late Levi H. Carlo's estate?" Mr. Workman: "I refuse to answer."

Mr. Jeffris: "That's just what I expected. There is just one interest or person in this community to which

Texas Trust Laws Prove Inadequate Suit of the Parker Pen Company Obtains Important Ruling In Texas Court.

Perhaps there is no state in the Union where the anti-trust laws are so rigid as in Texas. In a recent decision, however, by Judge Holland of the county court of Dallas, however, the patent laws of the United States are held to take precedence over the Texas laws. This is the result of a suit brought by the Parker Pen company of Dallas to test the validity of the Texas laws. It is the outcome of the violation of a contract with a dealer in Texas who broke his agreement not to sell the Parker pen at less than the scheduled price holding that the Texas laws prohibited trust agreements and that the contract was in the nature of a monopoly. That being so it violated the anti-trust laws of the state. By Judge Holland's decision he sustained the patent laws of the United States as being binding regardless of any state law that might exist and also that such an agreement did not constitute the creation of a trust. It is an important decision and far reaching in its effect as it will be used by other manufacturers who have had similar troubles with the Texas laws.

THE APOLLO CLUB PLANS FOR NEXT CONCERT ON NOV. 28.

Mme. Sturkow Ryder, a Noted Pianist, is on the Program of the Evening. President Geo. S. Parkers has arranged for the appearance of Mme. Sturkow Ryder, of Chicago, one of the most prominent of the pianists doing concert work this season to be the star at the next concert of the Apollo club on November 28. Mme. Ryder's engagement for the present season includes concerts in Chicago, Pittsburgh, Michigan cities and three concerts next June in England. The press notices of her work with the New York Symphony orchestra and in private recitals are most flattering. Mr. Parkers hopes also to include in his program for that evening a noted vocalist.

COCONUTS BUMP WALNUTS IN THREE STRAIGHT GAMES

High Scores Made by Bowlers in Contest in City Bowling League Series Last Evening.

The Coconuts team pushed the Walnuts back one in the race for honors in the city bowling league, taking three straight frames in a game at the Hickok alleys last evening. In turning the trick three of the five men of the coconuts rolled scores of over two hundred points, Hickok making 227, W. Halse 201, and E. Baumann 201. Tonight the Hazletons and Chestnuts will engage in a match. The line-ups and scores last night:

MUSICAL PROGRAM AT HIGH SCHOOL THIS MORNING.

Miss Josephine Treat Sang Several Selections From the Compositions Of Carrie Jacobs.

Misses Mae and Josephine Treat rendered a delightful musical program before the students at the high school this morning. Miss Josephine Treat sang two groups of songs, the first included four whose words were written by Carrie Jacobs and the second group included five selections whose music and words were both written by Miss Bonds. Miss Mae Treat played the accompaniment. Songs in Group I were (1) The Lullaby, (2) The Little Lamb, (3) Is You, (4) Dear Aunt Wende-sohn. In Group II were (1) Chorus in the Air, (2) Time Makes All but Love the Past, (3) I Love You Truly, (4) At Morning, Noon and Night, (5) Don't You Listen.

YOUNG MEN'S CLUB HELD MEETING LAST EVENING

Men's Club of Congregational Church Discuss Gardening and Poultry Raising for the City Man.

The Young Men's club of the Congregational church held a very successful meeting in the church parlors last evening. About twenty of the men of the church were present and at half past seven a buffet luncheon was served, after which the program of the evening was presented. The general topic for discussion was "Gardening and Poultry Raising for the City Man." The following numbers were given:

"Summer Gardening, Including the Care of Flowers, Gardens and Lawns."

—C. H. Lange.

"Poultry Raising."—Jesse Earle.

"Poultry Raising."—Allo Grelwald.

SIMMONS ON TRIAL ON CHARGE OF DRUNKENNESS

Sugar Beet Laborer Pleaded Not Guilty to Charge When Arraigned —Tom Connors Fined.

John Simmons, a shoveler at the beet sugar factory, was placed on trial in municipal court at four o'clock this afternoon on a charge of drunkenness. Officer Jim Dorn, just after leaving a saloon, according to Simmons' statement in court this morning, and when arraigned before Judge Fitch, pleaded not guilty to the charge. The trial was set for four o'clock in order that Officer Dorn might be present at the trial. Hall was fixed by Municipal Judge Fitch at $200 and being unable to furnish the bonds, Simmons was taken to the county jail.

Tom Connors of Johnstown, also charged with drunkenness, was fined $2 and costs. He was unable to pay but thought he could raise funds and was given two hours to borrow the money to pay the fine.

Many Take Advantage of Low Prices on Pianos Offered by Local Firm.

Explanation by President of Firm Regarding General Sale of Bargains and Reason For Making Them.

The great piano sale being held by the Wisconsin Music Company from their Janesville warerooms has excited a great deal of curiosity. The strong decisive statements of values offered and the knowledge of the value of the piano and even open contradiction of their veracity from certain quarters. Naturally great crowds have thronged the warerooms. They have looked, investigated and examined. Their doubt has changed to belief and without exception every visitor has gone away convinced by the facts, by the piano themselves and the prices, that the values are underrated rather than overdrawn.

Albert E. Smith, President of the Wisconsin Music Company, was at the Janesville warerooms this morning. He explained how it was that such phenomenal bargains could be offered. "For a long time we have wanted the agency of these famous pianos for Janesville. Consider Conover, Cable, Klugebury and Wellington pianos at regular retail prices the best piano values available. The opportunity to consolidate with the La Crosse agency for them carried with it the agency for all Southern Wisconsin and with it the combined yearly discounts applying to the enormous purchases of the allied agencies, provided we used the full amounts ordered for the remainder of the year and did not reduce the amount at this late date. Hence we save our discounts and make money by closing out this surplus stock before the close of the year regardless of profit or original cost." "Then," he added, "All we want for this line in the territory is an introduction and this sale will give them a wide one. The man who buys now not only saves money but takes advantage of an opportunity that will never come again."

GOOD WORK.

According to the Christian Science Monitor, 40,000 boys in the corn belt of the west are now receiving scientific instruction in corn culture. The boys are organized in clubs, under the direction of Prof. O. H. Martin of the department of agriculture.

The plan is to interest boys between 10 and 18 years of age in corn growing. Agents of the government assist in organizing the clubs, and teachers and business men and all in a neighborhood who may be instrumental in giving the boys encouragement are asked to lend their moral support to the association.

Under the operation of the club idea, it is said, that 40,000 boys are now receiving advanced instruction in agriculture, and in many instances the boys so taught are making better crops of corn than the adults.

The boys manage their clubs. They work at first for prizes, but they soon learn there is substantial and permanent reward in farming, and they cling to it. In this way thousands of boys who in all probability would have drifted to the city have been induced to remain in the country. This is a tangible gain for the nation, and one that can hardly be measured by its results in one generation.

"Everybody who thinks deeply on the subject will sympathize offhand with any project that holds out reasonable promise of winning American boys over to the soil. No purpose could be more worthy than that of properly influencing the farmer's son to remain in the country. Plainly, it can be done in only one way effectively: the farmer's son must be made to understand that the city has no better opportunities to offer him, has no better career in store for him, than what awaits him in the country."

A STORY WITH A MORAL.

The following story, from the Kansas City Journal, has been referred to in these columns, but it contains so much food for thought that it is worth reading in detail, in these days of unrest and discontent. There are other things beside the tariff that contribute to the price of meat and the cost of living.

"Back in '94 a farmer bought a farm wagon in Hutchinson for $60. It was a good farm vehicle, and the farmer was of the kind who took care of his property. The other day he came back to the same Hutchinson dealer and said he wanted to buy another wagon just like the one he got in '94. 'It was a good one,' he said. 'That's the reason I want another. How much are you going to charge me?'

"The dealer reflected a moment and then asked: 'I think you paid $60 for that wagon, didn't you?'

"That's right," said the farmer. "It will cost you $70 now," said the dealer.

"Distinctly surprised, the farmer began to object and then demanded the reason.

"Well," said the dealer, "the material, like lumber and iron and steel, has advanced in price and it costs me more now to buy them. The tariff probably has something to do with it, too."

"At the mention of the word 'tariff' the farmer went straight up in the air. He began to expound against the theory of the whole thing.

"The dealer let him run along a while and then asked again: 'Say, when you bought that wagon from me in '94, I think you paid for it in corn, if I remember rightly, didn't you?'

"I did," said the farmer, "but what has that to do with it?'

"You had to give me 600 bushels of corn for that wagon, didn't you," asked the dealer again.

"I did," said the farmer, after recalling in his own mind that corn was now selling at 10 cents a bushel in those days.

"Tell you what you do," said the dealer, "you bring me in 600 bushels of corn tomorrow, and I'll give you this wagon."

"Well, say, hold on—," began the farmer.

"The dealer interrupted him in turn. 'But that isn't all,' he said. 'In addition to the wagon I'll let you and your wife go over in the warehouse and pick out a surrey. Then you go and pick out the best self-blinder in the shop. And—'

"Here, wait a minute—," started the farmer.

"I'm not through yet," said the dealer. "When your wife comes in I'll let her go into the hardware department and pick out the best range we have. And just for good measure, suppose you tell your wife that she can also pick out enough kitchen utensils to entirely refurnish your kitchen. Now, I'll just give you that—all of that for 600 bushels of corn. In '94 the same amount of corn got you just the wagon. That's a fair proposition, isn't it?'

The farmer was stunned.

"I'll just work this out in figures and show you what you are getting," continued the dealer. "We'll put the wagon down at $70; the self-blinder at $125, and that'll get you a beauty; the surrey at $125; the kitchen range at $80, and that certainly ought to be a peach; and the kitchen utensils at $20, and that ought to buy a few. Add that together and you have $420. Multiply 600 bushels of corn at 70 cents a bushel and you have $420."

"The farmer dug up his $70 for the wagon without saying another word and motioned to the dealer to join him at the cigar stand for a 'smoke.'"

Senator Aldrich startled the country last winter by the statement that if he was running the government he could show a saving of $300,000,000 annually. The committee now investigating the unbusinesslike methods of the various departments, have about decided that the senator knew what he was talking about. The government can't run a print shop with any degree of success, so far as economy is concerned. What would it do with a railroad?

Conditions are badly mixed in Mexico and the instruction seems to be spreading to all parts of the republic. President Diaz, who for years has been so popular, has lost control, and may not be able to regain it. The line which divides Mexico from this country is an imaginary line, and American money is freely invested across the border. It may be necessary to protect those rights by force of arms.

The railroads have been refused the right to advance freight rates, and the Interstate Commerce Commission has given them to understand that the easiest way to make money is to save it, by cutting out extravagant waste in management. Mr. Brandeis, counsel for the eastern shippers, declares that this waste amounts to a million dollars a day.

It is gratifying to know that the government has at last waked up to the fact that it has long been a party to a lot of "get rich quick" schemes by distributing through the mails the literature of smooth promoters. The arrests made yesterday should be followed by many more, for the country is honeycombed with schemers who live on their wits and defraud the people with all sorts of gold brick enterprises.

The American Federation of Labor acted wisely in refusing to endorse socialism, at their convention in St. Louis yesterday. The American toiler is not clamoring for the equal distribution of property. All that is demanded is a fair chance and a square deal by the 28,000,000 people who work under direction in this free land of equal opportunity.

A statistician interested in figures claims that the value of mules in this country is far in excess of the value of automobiles, and that horses on the farm are increasing more rapidly in number and value every year than their gasoline rivals. The value of farm horses, January 1, 1909, was $2,276,260,000. The horse refuses to be annihilated.

The tax commission of Wisconsin has assessed the railroads of the state about $14,000,000 more than last year. A freight car is much easier to discover than a mortgage.

Carltons of campaign literature were dead-headed out of Washington during the summer, and yet the post-office department wonders why it is not self-supporting.

The tax ferret proposition received a jolt last night and the temporary postponement should be made permanent.

It requires 2,500,000 tons of steel rails per year to keep in repair the 210,000 miles of American railroads.

They are holding high carnival down at Charlie's grog bazar, and the boys are burning money where the shining bottles are; you may hear their joyous laughter, you may hear them shout and sing, and they're finding life a solace as the play hours take wing. But the morning, O the morning when the singing rounders wake! When the month is like a when's nest, and the head a mass of aches! O the agonies remorseful, and the wallings that ascend! For all men must pay the fiddler when the fiddler is at an end. There are fellows around us who are eating quite a swath, thinking that unless they're stylish they are surely in the brood; and they're buying motor-wagens, and they're hunting off to Rome, with a lot of borrowed money and a mortgage on the home. And some day a heavily pained on the land will spread a pall, and a lot of stylish fellows will be backed against the wall; then you'll fear a lot of pleading—pleading all in vain, my friend; for a man must pay the fiddler when the fiddler is at an end. Little Cora Jane DeGiggers has her feelings badly miffed, for her mother often tells her that her gait is much too swift. With her swifter gait companions through the streets she likes to roam, and she sees the moving pictures when she ought to be at home; she is flirting with the Johnnies in her harmless, foolish way, and she may invest in sackcloth on some bitter future day; for the laws that govern mortals never yield and never bend—girls, the boys, must pay the fiddler when the fiddler is at an end.

Heart to Heart Talks.

HOW TO STAY YOUNG.

At the age of eighty years Mrs. Amy D. Winslow of Racine, Wis., has begun her second year in the college course at Ohio State university.

"What a life!" you say.

Yes, at eighty years of age. A year ago she went to Columbus, took the examinations and was admitted.

She took an optional course in literature, languages and science. This year she will study philosophy, sociology and literature, making a specialty of Shakespeare.

And why not? She is a widow, has plenty of money and all her life has regretted the fact that she did not have a college education.

It is never too late! Sophocles wrote his masterpiece at eighty. Goethe finished "Faust" in his eighty-second year. Lord Lyndhurst made a brilliant speech in parliament on the eve of his eighty-ninth birthday. Lady Grey became an artist when she was an old woman.

Age is of the brain. Men and women, like certain trees, begin dying at the top.

Of course youth and healthfulness are largely conserved by attention to the physical side of nature; but, given a good constitution—

The spring of life is in the brain. The mystery of the life forces is in the gray matter in the brain pan. If you excite the brain cells you quicken the circulation of the blood and thus nurture the vital organs, give suppleness to the muscles, pliability to the arteries, light to the eyes—in a word, healthfulness.

So says science.

Therefore if you would stay the forces that break down life keep a young mind. Prevent habit and custom from lessening your free spirit. Ho captain on deck of your own vessel. Master your body from headquarters.

Mrs. Winslow will live longer because of her youthful purpose.

Many a man or woman gives up all interest in life at eighty years or before, shrinks into the chimney corner—and dies long before burial.

Keep a young soul! Do not brood over the past, and your interest in the present and reach forward into the future. Do not surrender yourself. Go down with the ship, flag flying!

Give and Take in Life. Jealous must be content to taste of their broth.—Latin Proverb.

Result of Experience.

Mistress (to new gardener)—"The cook tells me you are a woman hater, Jarvis?" Gardener—"Well, ma'am, seeing as how I've been married to seven of 'em, ye can hardly blame me."

The Philosopher of Folly. "It's hard to believe, my friend," says the Philosopher of Folly, "but more than likely you were once considered a handsome baby."

The Philosopher of Folly. "When an old maid gets a letter," says the philosopher of folly, "she glances at it, looks around to see if her friends are near, tries to blush, and runs to her room to read it. That's to make people think it's from a man."

Women Poor Law Guardians. In England and Wales nearly a thousand women are serving on the boards of poor law guardians—organizations similar to the overseers of the poor of this country.

that letter "C" could possibly be meant to refer to that is the Levi Carlo estate. Now I've got an inventory of that estate just as it was filed in the county court by the executor and approved by the attorney general and I'm going to read it to show you that there is not a single investment outside of the state of Wisconsin. Mr. Jeffris not only did this but he also went on to show that Norman B. Carlo had invested in nothing but Janesville Machine Co. stock since the inventory was filed. In all the list read by Mr. Jeffris there was just one mortgage. It was on Wisconsin farm property and was given to the Y. M. C. A.

"A Fair Sample." Mr. Jeffris, "in this real estate," Mr. Jeffris, "those connected with the L. B. Carlo estate are charged with being purveyors and tax-dodgers." This is a fair sample of what this tax-ferreting proposition will produce in this city.
"I am here simply as a citizen of Janesville. I represent no one. This movement, in my judgment, is one of the most inimical to the welfare of the city that has ever been proposed. I speak the sentiments of the largest of our real estate owners—such men as Michael Hayes and George Sutherland who are among the heaviest of our taxpayers. (The latter was in the audience.) If you'll pardon the personal allusion, I myself am rather heavily interested in local real estate. I am also interested in the securing of new factories and up-building of the city. I might go on the subscription list for $1,000 to secure some such plant as the Halko-Collender factory. If I did it would be with the reasonable expectation, or at least hope, that the advent of such a concern would eventually increase the value of my real estate holdings here to some such amount. If this tax movement represented merely an effort to collect $50,000 back taxes and was going to stop there, don't you suppose all the large holders of real estate here would be in favor of it, particularly when it promised to reduce their assessments? It looks pretty good at first blush and that is why some of the small business holders whose interests are identical with those of the larger real estate owners are in favor of it. It looks good until it is carefully examined and considerations arise which show that it would do millions of dollars worth of damage to all the business interests of the city. It will do much more damage to the city than any Halko-Collender plant can ever do good. We can get some other factory if that doesn't come here, but we can't repair the loss of confidence, the disappearance of ready money to carry on our business, the frightening away of capital, and the shrinkage in real estate values when Janesville advertises to the world that it is employing detectives to trail its business men.
"I speak the sentiments of every manufacturing institution here. They are interested because, in order to do business, money must be 'easy.' The infinite into such scheme as this begins to operate money goes into hiding. And let me tell you that money can run faster than any tax ferret. Suppose a farmer sells his farm with the intention of moving to Janesville. Suppose, even, that he invests the proceeds in Oklahoma mortgages. It's some advantage to have him come here, isn't it. The city, at least, will get the benefit of the interest on his investment. But let it be known that Janesville is employing tax ferrets and this man goes to Whitewater or some other city. Theoretically, of course, everyone should pay. In practice, they don't and you can't make them. In practice, too, it isn't question of policy to hunt for hard to find mortgage investments which are perhaps the owners' only sources of income.
"Good-will, fellowship sentiment, if you please, is an important factor in the making or breaking of a city. Create dissension and discord among neighbors, get them to accusing one another of perjury and falsehood, and you do a damage which cannot be measured in dollars and cents. There has been enough working at cross-purposes in this city already without adding to our difficulties.
"Waukesha, I understand, has turned down this scheme. Why, if it is advisable to try to get supposed sequestered property on the rolls, your own officers can do it."
In answer to a question from Ald. Buchholz, Mr. Jeffris said that in the operation of such a plan all the back taxes would have to go into the levy of a single year and that the state and county would thus come in for their share.

Mayor Carlo, in answer to a question, declared that he had no investments whatsoever outside the state.
In conclusion, Mr. Jeffris again called upon Mr. Workman to say whether he had meant any person or interest other than the Carlo estate in his hand-bill reference. Receiving no answer he pronounced the implied statement as "false as hell" and declared Workman to produce evidence of a dollar that the Carlo's had loaned outside of Wisconsin. "Consider this letter 'C,' if you please! Why was thing done? Simply for the purpose of getting in a dirty fling at the honor, the Mayor, and for nothing else!"

Other Business.
The Cronk Browning Co. was granted permission to transfer the license for a saloon at 301 West Milwaukee street to George Hunt and the latter's bond was approved.

Permit was given the Janesville Machine Co. to lay a switch track on River Street.

The report of the mayor and city treasurer on the sale of bonds was received and approved.

A. E. Baum was given a permit to move a building at the intersection of Lima and Center streets out on Center Ave. to the city limits.

At the instance of Alderman Dulu the street commissioner was instructed to compel the Greeks running a candy kitchen on West Milwaukee Street to clean up the boxes and other refuse they had dumped in the gutter and desist from such practices in the future.

Alderman Buchholz wanted to know if something could not be done to prevent the lunch stand violators of the three-ordinance from continuing their building operations on West Milwaukee Street. City Attorney Maxfield said that the city marshal could not lawfully undertake to raze the buildings until after the ten days stipulated in the notice had expired (on Nov. 25) and until the council should pass an additional order specifically instructing him to take such steps.

LEARN TO "LET GO."

"Laugh and grow fat" is a maxim with a scientific foundation. Relaxation of mind implies relaxation of body, and the tenacity of worry and strain of work prevent the flow of the digestive fluids and the easy action of the physical organs, which are essential to good nutrition. To learn to "let go" is a desirable lesson for many who fail to gain flesh by eating. On lying down think of the body as being absolutely limp in every part and sinking into the folds of the couch; draw a deep breath while allowing the eyes to close as if drowsy, think of the breath as if involuntarily passing to every extremity, and then let it slowly exhale, slowly opening the eyes as if by effort. Practice this also as you sit down in an easy chair in the evening, cultivating a habit of relaxation.

Catching a Cobra.

A driver on the Avonmore railway, South Africa, while staying at the Guntoos caught a large cobra de capello alive. The cool way in which he did the trick, says a local paper, sent a cold shiver through every one who saw it. He simply caught hold of the point of its tail, gave it a sudden jerk toward him and caught it by the back of the head. He then placed it in a blanket tin. The snake was three inches in diameter and about four feet long.

Two charming actresses and their pets. At left, Miss Stella T. and her pet poodle pal. At right, Miss May De Sousa at the horse show with her favorite horse.

Pets seem to be a necessary adjunct to the successful actress, as is proven by the fact that so many have their animal friends as constant companions. These "pals" vary from the poodle dog to the horse, bear, cat, and in fact, almost every pet to be found. Miss May De Sousa who has deserted musical comedy and is playing in "The Commuters," is especially fond of horses, and at her leisure has a dapple gray friend, of whom she is very proud. Miss Tracy, whose most recent engagement was in the "Goddess of Liberty," favors the poodle.

The Ticklemouse

—and his Sleepyland Adventures

By Roy Rutherford Bailey with Davy and Dorfy

The Charge of the White Brigade

IT'S pretty cool to go out tonight, chillings," said the Ticklemouse. "What way to a cozy time before the fire?"

He pulled a tiny wire box out of his pocket and laid it on the rug before the grate. "Wish it bigger, Willy," and in a trice the box had grown to be almost a foot long, and put forth a long branch like a handle.

"Why, it's a corn popper!" cried the twins. "Good! And we are going to pop corn!"

The Mouse winked at Willy as he poured in a pocketful of popcorn. "No, we're going to watch a battle," he smiled—"the battle of Popper Run."

"Pop or run—that's good, too!" laughed Willy. "Well, all good soldiers have to do one or the other, don't they?" And he stood on one foot and shut one eye.

As the kernels grew hotter and hotter and began to sizzle merrily about, Davy and Dorfy heard faint shouts, cries, commands—growing louder and clearer as the Ticklemouse shook the popper faster and faster. The nursery was fragrant with the delicious odor of parching corn.

Just then Willy Wishingmouse pulled a spyglass out of his belt and gave it to Dorfy. "Look, quick!" She looked and gave a little cry. "The soldiers—run, Davy, run!"

"Sh-h-h, not so loud—you'll wake the whole house! We aren't in danger," warned the Ticklemouse, shaking his head.

"Pop or run—that's good, too!" laughed Willy. "Well, all good soldiers have to do one or the other, don't they?" And he stood on one foot and shut one eye.

As the kernels grew hotter and hotter and began to sizzle merrily about, Davy and Dorfy heard faint shouts, cries, commands—growing louder and clearer as the Ticklemouse shook the popper faster and faster. The nursery was fragrant with the delicious odor of parching corn.

Just then Willy Wishingmouse pulled a spyglass out of his belt and CHARGE!" roared the Kernel of the White Brigade, and Davy saw the fluffy white morsels rush across the popper and hurl themselves upon the brown popcorns in the corner. Every corn in the popper pulled his weapon and the air fairly crackled with pistol shots and savage yells.

"Bite them, bite them, men!" shouted the Kernel of the Browns, and hurled himself upon Kernel White. But before the dusky fighters could recover themselves the lid of the popper flew open and the White Brigade flew out on the rug, each firing one last fatal shot at the enemy as he went. The Brown Brigade was too far gone to follow. Some of them tried to scramble up the wire walls in pursuit, but one by one they fell back and lay quiet and still.

"And what are you doing, sir?" asked the Ticklemouse of Willy, who was scrambling among the fluffy white popcorns and popping them into his open mouth.

"Why, the Charge of the White Brigade is over now, Uncle Tick; and I'm carrying out the last orders of Kernel Brown—didn't you hear him say to 'bite 'em, bite 'em'? The battle's on in earnest now, and I'm taking sides with the Browns!"

Serve Golden Crown Beer With Your Thanksgiving Dinner

This delicious brew will be in perfect harmony with the enticing edibles for Thanksgiving. Its sparkle and life will add zest to the Thanksgiving meal. But don't think of delicious Golden Crown as a mere drink. It's more. It is a food beverage with a nutritive value. Besides, it exerts a healthy influence on the digestive organs and aids considerably in the digestion of food consumed.

This is important on Thanksgiving. For, being a day of rest, we are apt to forget that necessary exercise. And, being a day of feasting, we need the exercise most. This makes Golden Crown all important as a part of the Thanksgiving meal, for it will assist the digestive organs to properly perform their functions. There will be no heavy, distressing after-dinner feeling if you serve delicious Golden Crown at the meal.

"The Taste Test of Golden Crown Beer"

RUSSIAN CZAR HONORS COUNT

EMPEROR SAYS TOLSTOI EMBODIED GOLDEN AGE OF HIS TALENT.

DUMA ADJOURNS ITS SESSION

Rightists Oppose Motion Because of Authors Renunciation of Church—Body of Dead Philosopher on Way to Home.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 22.—The Russian emperor has written the following note on the margin of the report which Mr. Stolypin sent to his majesty of Tolstoy's death:

"I deplore the death of the great writer who embodied the golden age of his talent in his creations; of types of the fatherland, constituting one of the most glorious periods of Russian life. May he find in God a merciful judge."

The duma adjourned its session out of respect to Tolstoy. The decision to adjourn was reached only after a wrangle, the members of the extreme right contending that to honor the memory of the count would be to challenge the Greek Catholic church. It was asserted also that the duma was a state institution to which the count was especially opposed.

In proposing the adjournment the president eulogized Tolstoy, whom he described as "the pride of Russia and the glory of mankind," adding:

"May the merciful God open to him the kingdom of heaven."

Body Is Started for Home.

Astapova, Nov. 22.—A special train left here bearing the body of Count Tolstoy to Yasnaya Polyana, the family estate in the government of Tula.

The countess and the other members of the family and intimates who were here when the author died accompanied the body and the newspaper correspondents were also accommodated on the train.

A halt for the night was made at the railway junction at Gorbatchevo, and the train arrived at Yasnaya Polyana, this morning.

The distance from the depot to the Tolstoy home is not great, and the casket, according to Russian custom, was borne to the house on the shoulders of the mourners.

PAROLE FOR HIS THANKSGIVING.

Former School Head at Peoria to Get Out of Jail.

Joliet, Ill., Nov. 22.—Attorneys for Newton C. Dougherty, former superintendent of schools of Peoria, Ill., appeared before the state pardon board, seeking the release on parole of the man, once prominent in national educational work, who was convicted of embezzling thousands of dollars of funds of the Peoria school board.

Dougherty will have served five years in the Joliet penitentiary and his attorneys say the prosecution is satisfied with the punishment inflicted upon him and will not contest his appeal for parole.

It is expected that he will be released on Thanksgiving day.

Emperor Advises Naval Cadets to Abstain for Nerve's Sake.

Berlin, Nov. 22.—"The nation which consumes the least amount of alcohol will be found at the head of the column on the field of art and war," was the keynote of Emperor William's speech at the opening of the new naval academy at Flensburg, Prussia.

The Kaiser warned the cadets against the use of alcohol and said that a fighter "needs strong nerves." The times, the emperor said, required iron-hearted men. Character was the first essential and character was founded upon strong moral and religious convictions.

Aged War Veteran Invents Concrete Railroad Tie—Becomes Rich.

San Francisco, Nov. 22.—The first payment of a total of $17,000,000 which is to be turned over to George Gates, a seventy-year-old G. A. R. veteran of San Jose, who invented the concrete railroad tie, is now in escrow in the Crocker National bank. A syndicate of eastern railroads has been formed to buy the patent rights of the San Jose man and $500,000 will be given to him when the contract is signed and by January 2, 1911, the total of $17,000,000 will be placed to his account.

HEIRS FIGHT FOR $7,000,000.

One Hundred and Ten Contest Mary E. Brinkerhoff's Will.

New York, Nov. 22.—Twenty lawyers, representing 110 heirs, began a contest in court at White Plains, N. Y., to prevent the probating of the will of Mrs. Mary E. Brinkerhoff of Hattings, N. Y., who left an estate valued at about $7,000,000. The opponents of the will allege that she was incompetent. Among those who received the largest sums under the will are Edward S. Theodore and Miss Helen Avery, relatives of Mr. Brinkerhoff. The opponents are grandnephews, grandnieces and cousins of Mrs. Brinkerhoff.

DENY CRIPPEN REPRIEVE; MUST HANG WEDNESDAY

Reported in London Wife Murderer Has Made Confession—Leneve Girl Visits Prisoner.

London, Nov. 22.—Dr. Hawley H. Crippen's petition for a reprieve was denied, the home secretary announcing that he declined to interfere with the sentence of the court. Crippen will be executed on the morning of November 23 for the murder of his wife.

When Solicitor Arthur Newton, who conducted the defense of Crippen, was asked regarding the rumor that his client had confessed he refused to confirm or deny the report. Father Carville, Crippen's confessor, also refused to discuss it.

Regardless of the fact that officials of Scotland Yard denied the report that Crippen had confessed, it is asserted that a newspaper has obtained a confession from Crippen and in return will pay a large sum of money to Ethel Clare Leneve.

The Leneve girl visited Crippen in the Pentonville prison after the decision of the home secretary had been announced. The young woman for whose love Crippen was charged with killing his wife wept and cried out hysterically as they talked. Crippen was deeply moved himself, more so, the prison attendants said, than at any time since his incarceration.

The friends of Doctor Crippen have not given up all hope of saving him, and a second petition is being prepared urging the home secretary to grant a reprieve on account of the doubt existing whether Belle Elmore's death has been conclusively proved.

PRESIDENT IN A SEA STORM.

Vessels Bearing Taft Party Battle Against Forty-Mile Gale.

At Sea on Board the U. S. S. Montana, via Wireless, Nov. 22.—President Taft, en route home from Panama and Guantanamo, was upon a high sea when the United States cruiser Tennessee and its convoy, the Montana, were tossed about by a northwestern storm off the northern coast of Florida.

Four hours the vessels bearing the presidential party battled against a 40-mile gale and were tumbled in the turbulent sea. The president demonstrated that he is a good sailor and thoroughly enjoyed the blow.

Des Moines, Ia., Nov. 22.—The Iowa supreme court held that W. L. Weaver, son of Justice S. M. Weaver, must stand trial on the indictment charging him with uttering a forged mortgage. In the deliberations over his son's case Judge Weaver took no part.

Word was received here from Mason City that George E. Weaver, another son of Supreme Judge Weaver, has been expelled from the Memorial university faculty.

EXHUME BODY OF S. KETCHEL.

Brothers Hear Former Fighter Was Beaten to Death With Club.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Nov. 22.—The body of Stanley Ketchel, middleweight champion, who was murdered near Springfield, Mo., was exhumed by three brothers—John, Leon and Alexander Ketchel. They explained they had heard Stanley was beaten to death and not shot. The brothers reported that they found the bullet holes and also evidence of a club having been used against Stanley's head. The body was immediately reburied.

CARE IN OPERATION IS CALLED RAILROAD'S NEED

Attorney for Eastern Shippers Declares Rate Raise Unnecessary to Increase Income.

Washington, Nov. 22.—The shippers had their innings in the contest before the interstate commerce commission over the suspended proposed increases in freight rates on the eastern lines. Their contention is that the advances are not justified, and that the real solution of the problem lies in the introduction of scientific principles in management.

Louis Brandeis, counsel for the traffic committee of the commercial organization of the Atlantic seaboard, opened for the shippers by asserting that the proposed increase were neither reasonable nor just. He declared that if the railroads need additional net income it should be secured through greater efficiency and economy of operation instead of resorting to the dangerous expedient of raising freight rates. In instances where such need may appear it resulted, he said, not because rates are too low, but that the management has by reckless expansion, waste and inefficiency impaired the financial condition of the roads.

Mr. Brandeis concluded by saying that burdens so arising should be borne by the stockholders and not by the shippers and consumers through increases in freight rates.

Educated Selling Ability

Suggestions Concerning the Spending of Money For Advertising and the Selling of Merchandise—Business Is No Place For the "Hard Heart" or the "Soft Head"—Analyzing Advertising Expenditure.

From swapping jack-knives to buying and selling railroads is a long "cry," yet in both exist evidences of a striking human trait. Among Americans, especially, there are few who can refrain from an endeavor to exchange something for money or its equivalent. It is an inherent, irremovable instinct.

In other words, we are an essentially producing and trading nation, and with but few exceptions all of us are engaged in creating or selling articles of commerce, or services directly or indirectly connected therewith.

The efficacy of this selling ability may have been taken rather too much for granted in the past. Salesmen and sales ladies have not generally been as intelligently selected as might be; nor have they been given sufficient preparatory education and subsequent training in the business science of selling.

Moreover, many young men of real genius are attracted to various professions as against any form of business, because of the supposed greater opportunity for the exercise of brains.

The typical old-style "clerk" as his picture comes to mind, is not a sufficiently admirable example of an occupation requiring mental ability to encourage these young men and women to learn how to sell goods. While it may have been true in times past that to "sell by hook if you can, by crook if you must, but sell" was the order of the pirate or highwayman in business, this condition has been replaced to a large extent by the modern development of the art of selling, which consists not in forcing goods upon unwilling customers, but in creating and maintaining a demand for your goods, and in establishing a reputation for your store. Thousands of dollars are spent today upon such a flimsy thing as an "impression." Yet when it is equaled that the impression the public has of your store either makes customers for you or drives them away, this state of affairs is not remarkable.

The permanent and satisfied trade of a customer is now striven for rather than the single sale. To such an extent is this carried, even in the staple lines, that judgment to prevent overbuying is recognized as one of the necessary qualifications of the modern salesman.

Today, no occupation calls for the exercise of higher order of ability, or offers more opportunity for personal study and improvement than that of the man in charge of the retail store. Good brains are not good enough. The very best brains and heart are necessary. Think of the power such a store wields over its customers.—If right policies are faithfully carried out!

No Place For "Hard Heart" or "Soft Head."

The man in an organization who directs the selling end, by whatever title he is known, should without question possess an educated instinct to sell; but of equal and perhaps greater importance, he should know how to train and direct his force of salespeople. Broad-gauged and liberal, of keen judgment and large heart, he should realize to the full the limitations of human nature and the real value of a sympathetic understanding of his clerks. Any meeting with the clerks, should be a source of inspiration to them.

Very little is done by most merchants in the way of educating their salespeople. Green help is hired, put behind a counter and is left entirely in their judgment and willingness to take proper care of the customer. The green clerk knows nothing about the goods, or about the science of salesmanship.

All clerks should be told, first of all, never to contradict a customer. Marshall Field says that the customer is always right. They should be told to meet all customers pleasantly, to bow to a customer even if they are busy with another at the time. They should try to create an interest in the goods the customer is looking at, by explaining the merits of the goods. Few clerks know the merits of the goods they sell, but they should be taught to know, to analyze and to learn for themselves. Other needs should be suggested to the customers, new goods should be introduced to them, "specials" should be called to the attention of the customers.

In many stores get-together meetings are held and "talks" are given to the clerks, explaining the policies of the store, new methods of selling, etc. Many business men make it a point to compliment their salespeople upon results obtained and suggest in a kindly way how even better results may be obtained.

Calling Out the Best in Men and Women.

The salespeople affectionately refer to the manager as the "old man," and eagerly await an invitation for the frequent gatherings where fresh efforts are stimulated. They are never scolded; yet they know that the eye of the "old man" is trained on all of them all of the time, and that he will take notice of shortcomings as well as good work. This man puts in practice what he knows to be the best policy. He knows that continued prodding thickens the skin and dulls endeavor.

Anyone can sell goods when the buyers are eager for them. It takes "hard sales" to bring out the qualities of a good salesman. That the general depression in business still exists, and accounts for a large part of the falling off in sales, is undeniable, but many merchants are unduly laying down to the force of "hard times."

Upon inquiry of the condition of business nowadays we frequently meet with a response to the effect that business is "spotty," meaning that while sales are good here and there, now and then, the flow of business is not regular or steady. If the inquiries are continued among men in similar lines of business, a curious condition is found to exist in that some houses are having good business while others in the same line are complaining.

Times like those through which we have passed try out, merchants to the uttermost. Some are too ready to yield to the influence spread about by general despondency, while others are not wasting time formulating the standard apology of "hard times," but are redoubling their efforts to create business.

Let Us Ask Ourselves a Few Pertinent Questions. Does my store have a distinct policy of increasing its business? If not, why do we blindly follow the customs of the past?

Are my goods displayed in the most attractive manner? If not, why not follow the example of the best merchandiser you ever heard of? Do my customers see a general rule return? If not, what steps am I taking to cause them to return? Are my goods returned often? If they are, what is the matter with the goods?

Are my salespeople of an average higher intelligence than my competitors? If not, what plan shall I adopt to train them and retain them?

These questions may seem elemental on the reading, but the answers, if satisfactory, will at least prove to you that your selling end of the business is on a good basis. You will, we think, want to work out selling thoughts which will naturally spring to your mind in contemplating these foundation thoughts. Take, for example, the subject of Intelligent Advertising.

Scarcely any cost is so unscientifically, if we may use the word, expended as that of advertising. Our experience shows what we think will be confirmed by most of our readers, that there is very little, if any, uniformity in ideas as to what constitutes the best means of advertising a retail store.

Some manufacturers adopt every form of advertising presented to them by advertising men. Others appropriate a certain lump sum annually to be spent, while others try one kind one year and another the next with no reason other than that no definite increase of sales can be traced to the particular form employed. A tremendous amount of money is actually earned and in bank only to be thrown away in unwise advertising.

The man in charge of advertising will want to study the best way of reaching the public.

It is not our intention to do more than direct your attention to this immense waste-hole too frequently seen by intelligent business men.

There is a diversity of opinion regarding the best forms of advertising. Some go in for general publicity, keeping the name before the people, some maintain that "bargains" are the only thing that will pull others believe in reason why advertising, which entails argument and proof, while some maintain nothing, but just advertise because their competitors do.

Each kind of advertising has merit, even the advertising that is brought out because competitors advertise, but in all of these, the greatest force of advertising, the most potent and lasting result from advertising, has not been considered, and that is, "the impression the advertisement makes."

If just the name is kept before the people, it means nothing more than the name.

If bargains are continually advertised and nothing but bargains, the store will get the bargain hunters only.

If good "reason why" advertisements are used, they will be effective, but the ads should not be long, and only one point made at a time.

But if a store will present an advertisement that leaves an impression in the mind of the reader that it is a good store, or that its goods are stylish, or moderately priced, or the assortment is good, or its service good, or of fairness in dealings, that advertisement will do more to make a new customer and hold him than any other form of advertising in existence.

An instance of the possibilities of this kind of advertising may be cited in those high class stores that have established a prestige so strong that it enables them to sell merchandise at a price from 25% to 100% higher than their "cheaper competitors" dare ask for the same goods. This class of advertising can be done right here in Southern Wisconsin with equally good results, though time is necessary to accomplish it, and a definite policy must be maintained throughout. It has been done right here in Janesville in one of the most staple lines of The Gazette has spent much time in the study of scientific advertising, and has mapped out and instituted many striking advertising successes. Its aim is the same as your aim, viz.: not simply to make sales, but to sell space in the advertising columns of The Gazette, but to make new customers and to increase our sales to old customers. Because advertising is so little understood we cannot afford to abuse the confidence of our customers, for if confidence is destroyed future business is impossible.

No attempt has been made in this article to present the merits of advertising in The Gazette, or to show its value as compared with other mediums of publicity. Suffice it to know that because most everyone in Southern Wisconsin reads The Gazette, most every progressive merchant in Janesville advertises in its columns. And because the merchants who advertised last year in The Gazette and five years ago and ten years ago, are still advertising in The Gazette today, it is fair evidence that they get profitable returns for the money expended.

If this article has suggested but three simple thoughts to you, it has served its purpose:

(a) Why are certain means employed by some large houses in your line and not by you?

(b) Is there any way by which the efficacy of your particular methods may be measured?

(c) How much money are you spending for advertising? How much of it are you spending in doubt, blindly, following traditional lines?

Can we help you to analyze the cost of running your business, to increase the efficiency of your clerks and to form plans to increase your patronage?

YOUR BOY NEEDS THIS SHOE

It's made of green pliable soft elk skin that is as tough as iron, that's soft, comfortable, and won't wear out. It's made like our summer shoes for boys and is an equally good value. Double and treble sewed, solid oak soles double thickness clear to the heel, overlapped seams, double sewed. As near waterproof as it is possible to get leather. We have put this shoe in water for 6 hours and it does not dampen through. It has steel eyelets, buckskin laces, belows elk tongue sewed on both sides to keep out dirt, snow, wind. It's a warm shoe, a strong shoe and a remarkable value. Boys' sizes, $2.95.

BROWN BROS. On the Bridge

Why Is This?
"It seems strange," remarked the Observer of Events and Things, "that no one has found the north pole and yet every one who has gone looking for it has been right up against it."

The Great Beautifier.
There is no beautifier of complexion, or form, or behavior like the wish to scatter joy and not pain around us.—Emerson.

Painting a Bridge.
So vast is the Forth bridge that it takes 100,000 pounds of paint to give it one coat. The area dealt with is about 120 acres.

ATLEE POMERENE.
Will Probably Succeed Senator Dick as United States Senator From Ohio.

Cincinnati, O.—In an informal caucus, the democratic delegates in the next state legislature, upon the advice of Tom L. Johnson, adopted a resolution pledging their support to Atlee Pomerene of Canton for United States senator. This eliminates the name of Mayor Brand Whitlock of Toledo from consideration. While it does not actually elect the Ohio democrat to receive the toga from Dick, it virtually amounts to the same thing. If the democratic stand together in the next state legislative session.

NEW YORK'S NEW SEVEN MILLION DOLLAR SKY SCRAPER—THE SECOND TALLEST STRUCTURE IN AMERICA.

The Woolworth building, to be erected at the southwest corner of Broadway and Park Place, New York city.

New York, N. Y.—Towering above any structure in lower Broadway the Woolworth building, which is to be erected for the F. W. Woolworth company, at the southwest corner of Broadway and Park place, will be the second loftiest structure in America. In Europe there is only one building, the Eiffel tower, that is higher. The picture here shown is from a photograph of a perspective drawn by the architect, Cass Gilbert. The structure when completed, including the site, will have cost close to $7,000,000, making it among the most costly business buildings in the world.

GOOD COLD CREAMS.

Formulas For Making Your Own Compounds.

To make sure of getting a cold cream in which there are no animal oils many women like to compound their own massage creams.

They often fail to get results from a good recipe by not understanding the art of compounding. All cold creams are made in the same way. The fatty substances are put in a double boiler and melted, stirring constantly. When all are melted turn out in a bowl and stir, scraping down from sides.

The chief trouble comes in adding the extracts and perfumings, which must be added gradually when the fatty base is partially cold. Add first any perfume waters, drop by drop, beating constantly with a silver fork, then all the others or extracts last of all. These go in drop by drop also.

A flat wire egg beater can be used successfully when a large amount of the mixture is being made up, and one woman swears by a mayonnaise mixer for compounding her toilet creams.

Here is a recipe that can be used freely without fear of becoming hardened or fuzzy: Eight tablespoonfuls each of almond oil and rosewater, two tablespoonfuls each of white wax and spermaceti, a teaspoonful of tincture of benzoin.

Melt the oil, then add the wax and spermaceti, and when nearly cold from heating add the rosewater drop by drop, then the benzoin.

Discarded cheese jars of porcelain are nice to pack this cream in to stiffen. Keep in a cool place. Put in small jars, so that in use it does not get germ filled by constant opening.

She Understood.

The Widow—"The way to interest a man is to talk about what he is most interested in." The Maid—"But I soon tire of talking about the man I am talking to."

One-Sided Contest.

"Whenever you stunts in to give you consequence an argument," said Uncle Eben, "it might as well save time and get out of the contest, 'cause you're bound to beat it."

Deafness Cannot be Cured.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional treatment. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed, it swells and shuts out the sound waves, and when it is inflamed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and the tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. It is caused by ten causes, and each one, which is making but an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness caused by any of the causes named above, which cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

hurst Removed From Mansion.New York, Nov. 22.—Mrs. Nonie
Stewart Leeds, widow of William H.
Leeds, the "tin plate king," who left her $30,000,000, was the woman behind the scenes in another eviction
that took place at the big Stewart mansion in Montclair, N. J. All the personal belongings of Miss Fernie Parkhurst, Miss Leeds' sister-in-law,
were removed from the house by storage men. Mrs. Stewart's lawyer received from Mrs. Leeds' lawyer the receipt from the storagehouse. This was the first knowledge Mrs. Stewart and her daughter had that the latter's possessions had been removed.CHAPMAN BEATEN FOR SEAT.Official Returns Show Fowler Elected

there is a resident priest. You are, therefore, kindly requested to faithfully carry out the following order of the religious celebration of the national holiday:"First, the votive solemn or high mass de SS. Trinitate in gratiarum

the exposition of the blessed sacra-

appropriate hymn."Third, the public recitation, by the celebrant at the altar, or by another priest in the pulpit, or unison by some larger children of the school, of closed. They are to be recited in the prevailing vernacular of your congre-

please announce the religious observance herewith prescribed for that day to your people on the previous

Catholic men's societies would turn out in full numbers for such a Christian observance of the day. We may thus be able to preserve the truly Christian and religious character of our national Thanksgiving day, which otherwise threatens to become a day of merely worldly dissipation.At St. Patrick's church this service

Causes Much Complaint—Various Opinions Expressed.At the present time there are in the South Janesville yards between one hundred and fifty and two hundred cars on the tracks waiting for repairs.
Present indications are that they will remain there for some time, as the force employed in the car department has been considerably reduced and have all the work they can handle.The policy adopted by the road is three causes of much comment and conjecture. The opinion is expressed by some that the reason for the reduction of forces employed in the operative department is that the company is holding off to await developments in the proposed increase of wages or strike of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and various other causes for the action are advanced.
Complaint is made that motive power sufficient to move the volume of business that is pouring in, can not be secured and the service of locomotives being used is not satisfactory. The forty street yards and other Chicago go, so that switching crews labor with difficulty, and outgoing trains of goods are continually pouring out of the metropolis in all directions.On the St. Paul road according to what can be learned of conditions here, the volume of business is equally as great and the demand for engines just as urgent. At present, it is declared that almost as soon as a locomotive comes in from one run,
it is needed immediately to take out
another train.Looks Himself Up in the Dictionary.

ALL RETAILERSBRANCH OF THE INDUSTRIAL AND COMMERCIAL CLUB IS FORMED.MEETING MOST SUCCESSFULWill Handle Credit System for Merchants of the City—Rating Bureau to Be Established.Janesville retail merchants organized last evening at an interesting session that was held at the Myers hotel, following a "Get Together Dinner" served shortly after seven in the hotel dining room. Not only have they organized, but it has been decided to put in operation the rating bureau of the Industrial and Commercial club for the benefit of the members. With this in view an executive committee consisting of the president, secretary and chairman of the membership committee were elected to handle the matter and active work toward completing the plans will be taken up at once.It was the first "Get Together" dinner the local retailers have ever held.
The attendance was good and a most interesting talk on the manner in which a rating bureau was conducted in Winona was given by Leo H.
Hercer, secretary of the Commercial club of that city, who was the guest of the evening. F. S. Sheldon acted as toastmaster after H. M. De-Armand, president of the retailers' association, had introduced the subject of the evening. Mr. Sheldon spoke of the troubles of the retailers in making collections of their accounts, of bad accounts and accounts lost, and then called upon Mr. Hercer to explain how the Winona Business Men's association conducted their credit system through a rating bureau.Mr. Hercer proved to be a good talker and his explanation was most clear and concise. Winona is a city somewhat larger than Janesville but the same conditions exist there as here
so that the comparison was well made.
In the Minnesota city the rating bureau is an organization of itself.
Merchants belong by paying a yearly fixed dues and in return receiving a book giving the financial rating of every customer. The book is kept up to date by additional reports sent out every sixty days in which the ratings are either changed or remain the same as regards the customer's ability to pay his account within a fixed period of time. Mr. Hercer explained the manner in which the merchants handled these accounts, how they had three sets of envelopes with regular letters acting for payment of account, the "red white and blue system" the speaker called it, which were sent out
ten days apart, unless the creditor came in and settled or made some arrangements to do so. Merchants who do not belong to this rating association are often stuck with bad accounts
by customers who have been refused elsewhere.The speaker also explained that part of the duties of the head of the rating bureau was to pass on all advertising schemes, fake schemes he called them, that defraud the merchant of his legiti-mate profit from good well placed advertisements. He referred to church programs in union cards, even when endorsed by the heads of the Union, and numerous other schemes that the merchant is subjected to by clever solicitors which means money in their pocket and no returns to the merchants.The system of securing the reports on would be creditors was shown to be most simple and at the same time
most complete. It was not in any way
a black list simply an actual rating for the benefit of the members of the association upon which they could base their business with their customers.
It was secret, no customers knowing who had given them a good or bad rating unless such a merchant so desired. It protected merchants from bad debts and helped him to increase his business in legitimate channels.Mr. Hercer talk was followed by Mr.
De Armand, secretary of the local Industrial and Commercial club who explained a system of rating that he had evolved from study of the local situation and gave an estimated cost of installing it. Instead of a book to be issued every thirty days, he believed the card index system could be used to a better advantage and this index kept in the office of the secretary, where it could be available for the members use by telephone at all times. As this was part of the original plans of the Industrial and Commercial club when it was first talked of, to have the benefit of the rating bureau the individual merchants must be members of the association.Mr. De Armand's talk led to a series of discussions in which the retailers present expressed their opinion of the idea. All favored it, but many favored the organization of a close retailers association with its own officers, to be distinct from the Industrial and Commercial club. It was however explained that this would be impossible owing to the cost of maintaining the officers necessary to conduct it and an appeal was made to those present, who were not members of the Industrial club to join that organization. Twelve did this last evening and doubtless others will when the papers are passed among them in the near future.The organizations of the Retailers branch of the Industrial and Commercial club was then perfected with the election of F. S. Sheldon as president, L. G. De Armand, secretary and Henry M. Dedrick, chairman of the membership committee of the Industrial club as chairman of the same committee for the new organization.
These three officers to constitute the executive committee.The question of holding monthly "get together" dinners was also brought up and finally left to the executive committee to decide upon and the meeting adjourned subject to the call of the President. Before doing this however a rising vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Hercer for his address and advice in the matter of ratings. In session proved most interesting. It was the first time the retailers had ever gotten together and when the organization is completed, the rating bureau in operation, it is safe to say that every retailer will become a member as well as many professional men.Those present at the supper were:

The Kidney Cure Without a Failure

The Positive Cure That Revolutionizes Treatment of Kidney Diseases, Rheumatism and Bladder Trouble.

These statements are not exaggerated. There is no necessity in doing so, because every man and woman suffering from kidney or bladder troubles, or rheumatism can prove it within 24 hours by getting a free packet of Dr. J. C. Smith's Kidney Pills at any drug store.

Dr. Derby's Kidney Pills are ahead of the times, the only kidney and bladder

Now, listen, sufferers, don't get excited. Just try away all your present treatment for your kidneys, back or bladder. If you have pain in the back, profuse or scanty urination, colored or foul urine, rheumatism, gravel, diabetes, pain in the bladder or terrible Bright's disease, just get a 25-cent package of Dr. Berly's Kidney Pills at any drugstore, and see the difference in yourself in 24 hours. If you think this is too good for you to believe, just ask your druggist for a free sample package, and try it. Remember, Dr. Berly's Kidney Pills are not to be very readily sold. Stops Even Whooping Cough Quickly. A Family Supply at Small Cost.

It is a home-made remedy that case in 24 hours. This recipe makes a pint—enough for a whole family.

ready-made cough syrup for $2.00.

Mix one pint of granulated sugar with $\frac{1}{2}$ pint of warm water, and stir 2 minutes. Put $2\frac{1}{2}$ ounces of Pine (fifty cents' worth) in a pint bottle and add the Sugar Syrup. This keeps perfectly and has a pleasant taste—children-like it. Brings up the phlegm and is slightly laxative, which helps and a cough.

You probably know the medicinal value of pine in treating asthma, bronchitis, and other throat troubles, sore lungs, etc. There is nothing better. Pinex is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, rich in guaiacol—and the natural healing pine elements. Other preparations will not work for this formula.

The prompt results from this inexpensive remedy have made friends for it in thousands of homes in the United States and Canada, which explains why the pine has been imitated often, but never successfully.

A guarantee of absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded, goes with this recipe. Your druggist has Pinex or will get it for you. If not send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.
